

About US

Ban Leong Technologies Limited, is a brand name in the technology products retailing market since 1993. Leveraging on over 25 years brand history, we re-positioned and strengthened our brand as a name synonymous with innovative, fashionable and user-focused tech-savvy products through regular marketing activities allowing us to have more than 1000 customer base retailers.

Our Views About HR & Talent

As Singapore's technology-driven specialist distributor, we are always on the lookout for new members to join us. We believe in grooming and investing on fresh talents. We do so by giving them learning opportunities on their job. This enable company to align with their newly incorporated mission, to grow and nurture our people.

Students' Feedback

Students who interned with us felt they enjoyed the opportunities given to them to broad their technical insight, experience and knowledge as they get to learn and be involved with the whole work flow of the company. Some interns even have the chance to participate in the company major event, trade IT shows.

How have we collaborated with IHLs

We have participated in various internship partnerships with Republic Polytechnic, National University of Singapore, Nanyang Technological University and Institute of Technical Education. To date, we have recruited interns from Accounts, Product, Logistics and Service Department.
